New York, July 22.—Fifteen years ago Henry Blaine, a brass moulder who was born and brought up in the Eleventh Ward, left New York and went West. He made a circuit of the continent and finally settled down in one of the most prominent manufacturing towns of Pennsylvania.

He built for himself a home, and Henry's hands show that he has heard the burden of labor. He was with the late Arthur when he went through the stone park. He was the leading guide, every portion of the park and pointed out the various points of interest. He has a son who lives on Sixth street, on the east side of the city, and he is a large employer of labor.

He is a fine man, and he is a large employer of labor. He is a fine man, and he is a large employer of labor. He is a fine man, and he is a large employer of labor. He is a fine man, and he is a large employer of labor.

They Declare Unwilling to Be Elected President of the United States—Carl Schurz and George Williams. Carl Schurz, the Centennial Figures—Loud Cheers and waving of Hats, Handkerchiefs and Fans—Grover Cleveland Unanimously Indorsed.

New York, July 22.—The meeting of Republicans opposed to Blaine and endorsed for to-day at the University Club, was largely attended. For the time fixed for the meeting there was a stir in that generally quiet locality, and the corridors of the little theater the consultation. Independents were loudly carried on. Among the most prominent faces noticeable were those of Blaine, Curtis and Carl Schurz. The latter center of an interested, animated group, a member of the Independent, and other of the members of the Brooklyn Young American were present. The secretary made up the list of names who were to be present. The list which showed that Massachusetts was more numerous than any other State except New York. A few from New Jersey and Connecticut and some from the more distant States were on the roll, which at 11 o'clock is still incomplete. No resolutions have been agreed upon, but it is understood several platforms, either full or in part, have been prepared. These will be referred to a committee on resolutions and that committee will prepare a platform, which the convention will debate and upon which it will act. Admission to the hall is by ticket, but any one signing the following formula, furnished on printed slips to each applicant, is given admission without question: "Disapproving of the nomination of Blaine by the Republican National Convention at Chicago as unworthy of support, and believing the interests of good government and public morals demand the defeat of the Republican candidates for President and Vice-President, and being therefore resolved not to vote for Blaine and Logan, I desire to take part with other Republicans and Independent voters in a conference to be held at University Club Theater, Madison Avenue and Twenty-Sixth Street, New York, Tuesday, July 22, at 11 a. m."

men. We want for President a man who is incorruptible, and if he be able and energetic as well as so much the better. We have not far to look for such a man. He is Governor of the great State of New York and the nominee for the Presidency of the Democratic party. I think cheering, half the delegates rising and waving hats and handkerchiefs. Let us put ourselves on record as against political corruption. No man shall be asked for a pledge here, and certainly none will be given. Let us consider matters in a businesslike way, so that when we have considered our labors we may go to our homes with the knowledge that we have done what we could for the benefit of our country." [Applause.]

PANIC AT TOULON.

The Wildest Excitement Existed in the French City.

All Caused by a Shipwreck of Coffins that Arrived From Marseilles—The Cholera Death Rate Still Increasing—Affairs in Egypt—Cable Flashes.

Paris, July 22.—There were thirty deaths from cholera at Marseilles last night and twenty-eight at Toulon. A panic was created at Toulon during the night by the arrival of one hundred coffins ordered from Marseilles. In order to allay the excitement it was found necessary to publish the following statement: "The Municipal Council of Paris, the director of public aid declared that no case of genuine Asiatic or sporadic cholera had been reported at the Paris Hospitals. The deaths attributed to cholera were really due to other causes."

Between 9 o'clock and noon to-day there were eight deaths from cholera at Marseilles. The International Technical Commission, which has been working on the question, has decided in favor of widening the present canal, instead of building another parallel with it.

London, July 22.—Henry H. Stanley, who has resigned as the director of the African Inland Mission, is expected to arrive in England Monday.

THE TRADES' DEMONSTRATION. The Telegraph says: "The demonstration of trades' union at Hyde Park to-day was the most remarkable and interesting witnessed during Victoria's reign. Over 100,000 men marched in the procession with a decorum rising to dignity. It will not do for the police to mock or undervalue its peaceful, simple methods, or to deny it as a paid show."

THE STANDARD says: "The behavior of the people was admirable, but the demonstration has not changed the political situation in the slightest degree. The judgment of the silent and modest section of the community will be affected. The ministry should concern themselves with the sober majority who stay at home and think for themselves, instead of following brass bands through the streets and passing resolutions."

THE LOSS FROM THE GREAT FIRE. Saturday at Crane Wharf, a schooner will reach $2,000,000. Among the merchandise consumed was 300,000 lbs of wool valued at $800,000; 3,000 tons of coffee valued at $500,000; 1,000 tons of pepper, a third of the entire stock of London, valued at $25,000; besides this, 1,500 tons of gum, tapers, sugar, molasses and other provisions were destroyed. Large quantities of oil stored at the wharf was not much damaged. The fire is not yet extinguished, and fire engines both on the river and on the shore are still pumping water on the wharf.

Russia. St. Petersburg, July 22.—The Russian government has ordered a strict guard at the frontier railway stations, against the introduction of cholera.

Egypt. Cairo, July 22.—Omar Digma, the leader of the rebels near Salkin, has been asked to send reinforcements to Berber. The rebels there stand in much fear of Gordon's movements.

GENUINITY. Cairo, July 22.—The number of gunboats belonging to the British fleet in the harbor of Alexandria has been increased.

DESTRUCTIVE BLAZES. Gloucester, Mass., July 22, 10 a. m.—What was threatened to become a serious conflagration broke out this morning in Harvey & Tar's clock factory. A heavy breeze is blowing and the fire is extending rapidly. All the buildings on Duncan's Point are in danger.

GROWING SERIOUS. 12 a.—Harvey & Tar's building was destroyed and a dwelling house was burned. A self left, the McKenzie House and McDonald's boarding-house are burning. Farmer, Rice & Co.'s large store, house and barn fire, and the fire is spreading rapidly. The Western Union branch office, T. A. Langford, Son's building and a house owned by Henry Martin were destroyed.

ENGINEER TO THE RESCUE. Warren Burdett's house was nearly destroyed. The Sheppard House was saved. A steamer from Lynn has arrived on a special train, accompanied by a destroyer from Beverly. The ship is loaded with hay and grain and is being used as a fire engine. The fire started in the boiler room of Harvey & Tar's clock factory.

THE OTHER LOSERS ARE: Endow Smith, Tremont House and grocery; Farmer and Rice's store; T. A. Langford, Son's sawing and turning manufactory. It is estimated the total loss will reach $500,000. The fire was under control.

Five Million Feet of Lumber. Pittsburg, Pa., July 22.—The fire at Dubois, Pa., yesterday was not gotten under control until 5,000,000 feet of lumber, six houses and several barns were destroyed. The lumber belonged to the Dubois Lumber Co. and Co. of Williamsport. The losses aggregate $300,000; insured for $250,000. The fire was caused by a spark from an engine.

A Country Store. Vincennes, Ind., July 22.—Fire at Curryville, twenty-five miles north of this city, destroyed the country store of Sam Barwell. Loss, $35,000. It was the work of an incendiary.

FINIS MORNING CALL. The Morning Call passed into the Valley of the Shadow of Death at noon to-day, after receiving its death warrant in the shape of a paper signed by Dr. J. H. McLean, the proprietor, requesting Mr. Hager, the business manager, to notify the different gentlemen connected with the paper, that the Morning Call had suspended publication and would not be issued any more. Dr. McLean said to have lost about $25,000 in the enterprise, and to be thoroughly tired of newspaper work. The suspension was not entirely unexpected by the members of the staff, as they were notified yesterday when receiving their salaries that there after they were retained only by the week but by the day.

City Hall Notes. The City Controller paid into the treasury to-day $10,841.91 on account of licenses and $2,320.38 on account of taxes.

The following building permits were issued to-day: Harry H. Smith, 1000 Broadway, $10,000; Ewing Avenue near Scott Avenue, $3,000; Phil Bruckman, stable on Nicholson place near Lafayette Avenue, $1,000; Fred Teutrup, two tenements, on Ninth street, near Montgomery; Adams Express Company, stable, on south corner of Third and Spruce streets, $15,000; Henry Kalerbrook, two tenements, on Eleventh street, $10,000.

A man of 55, named Joseph McDonald, was brought to the Dispensary to-day for treatment after having mutilated himself in a horrible manner. He was sent to the City Hospital.

Saratoga Races. Saratoga, July 22.—The story published in the West that all the pool sellers were arrested yesterday is incorrect. Pool selling is going on to day as usual.

Volunt held her own and won easily by two lengths, a length between second and third. Time 45 1/2. Second race—Frederick first, Monroe second, Mark Stuart, was beaten off. Mark Stuart and Frederick made alternate runnings for nearly half the distance, when Stuart stopped, followed by Stuart and Frederick then ran side by side until a furlong from the wire, when Frederick drew away and won with a half a length. Time 2:15 1/2.

Third race—Jim Hewick first, Samster second, Mammoth third, Burch last. The latter made for nearly three furlongs, followed by Samster and Hewick. Nearing the three-quarter pole Samster took up the race, followed by Hewick. Samster held his lead to the half distance, where Hewick came up with a rush and won very easily by three lengths. ## An American's Experiences in the Interior of the Sister Republic.

Mexican Friendship for Americans A Deception and a Share—The Real Feeling One of Distrust and Hatred—A Curious Talk With a Returning Prospector.

Among the guests at the Hotel Barmen are two young Southern gentlemen, Messrs. James Mason of Asheville, Ky., and T. E. Adams of Nashville, Tennessee, who have stopped over in the city for a while on their way home from El Cuervo, Mexico, where they have been engaged in mining. "The mines at this point," said Mr. Mason to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "were owned by Mr. Polk, the defaulting Treasurer of Tennessee, and it was in the hope that their skillful management might enable Mr. Polk to pay the amount of his deficiency that the company engaged the services of Judge Cooper, ex-Chief Justice of Tennessee, who, you will remember was brutally shot and murdered by a mob of Mexicans who were waiting for him at the El Cuervo. At the time of his murder Judge Cooper was accompanied by an American named Sumner who engaged single handed in a fight with the mob, shot one of them and being wounded, seized the shot gun from the hand of the Mob (Mexican) and was killed. After him he killed him. For this he was obliged to leave the country, public opinion being against him. He had acted in self defense, and that the men he killed were cut-throats of the worst description."

"That would seem to indicate that Americans are not popular characters in Mexico as the usual run of newspaper correspondence and interviews would have one to infer."

"Of course, near the railroads, the natives pretend the foreigners are high esteem, but it is only a superficial show, and in the interior American are despised, and when the natives are not so kind, they are not so kind. At El Cuervo we were 80 miles from the railroad, and when I tell you that we all went heavily armed you will understand just how far we trusted the friendly feeling of the Mexicans. Murders were common everywhere, and when the natives could get an American to kill they murdered one another. A man named McNamee was shot on his way from Peral to a mine, about eight miles distant, and was killed by a mob of natives. Last March a young American, named McNamee, was shot on his way from Peral to a mine, about eight miles distant, and was killed by a mob of natives. The Fusionists Will Probably Have Two Gubernatorial Candidates.

Marmaduke Tickets to be Put in Every Ward as the Primaries—The City Central Committee's Meeting To-Night Schurz and Freestonia Do Not Agree.

The Fusion movement continues to develop, and today's indications are that the Fusionists will put two candidates in the field for Governor. This proposition, although seemingly paradoxical, is really quite logical, when analyzed from their standpoint.

At first it was thought that one candidate would make a very strong fight against Marmaduke, by uniting Republicans, Greenbackers and Prohibitionists, and this theory stood in favor until the field was canvassed and the great difficulty of finding a candidate for the emergency was realized. To every man who was mentioned, there was the great objection that one of the party for Marmaduke did not support him. The gentleman who found most favor with the Fusionists and Greenbackers was Governor Johnson, but his name was not mentioned, as he could not help recognizing the fact that the German and the Irish would be cashed at par, and would be driven right over to the Democratic camp when they had no choice except to accept Marmaduke and Johnson.

Cleveland was actually nominated Hancock against him and for the Republican ticket. This change was made entirely without consultation with the Fusionists, and the first through the paper used earnestly protested against it. At once, and wrote to the editor and owner of the controlling interest in the paper, that he could not have taken such a step without being prepared to buy all the shares in the paper. The Fusionists have been for sale from that time, and are now.

Low Blawie, July 19. A call was made on the Westliche Post office, but Dr. Freestonia did not arrive. It was learned there that several days ago Dr. Freestonia published in the paper an announcement that the stock held by Mr. Schurz for sale, however, appears to be news in the Post. The doctor of Mr. Schurz is generally regarded by the men attached to the paper here, as he and Dr. Freestonia have always been such warm friends and in such perfect accord. In fact, it is said that this is their first serious difference of opinion.

The weather. Along toward noon today there was a yearning for a polar wave, and when the official indications announced continued warm weather there was a feeling of disappointment. It is likely the showers predicted for to-morrow will somewhat temper the heat. The readings as observed by A. A. Optician, for to-day were as follows:

Barometer, 30.00; Thermometer, 80.00; Wind, S.W.; Clouds, 100.00. The case of C. H. Boase, charged with receiving stolen property, is on trial in the Court of Criminal Correction.

our country from a class of "servile" immigrants "unable to comprehend our institutions" is very vague and lame. It proposes nothing that can secure the wage-worker a just share of the protection afforded by law to his employer's capital.

SPORADIC CASES OF "HOPPING" continue on both sides. The latest sensation of that sort are the accusations to the Blaine ranks of Col. Geo. L. WALTON, a prominent Louisiana Democrat, formerly President of the State Senate, and Mr. W. J. GLEASON, for fifteen years past chairman of the Democratic City Committee of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. GLEASON is a leading Irishman and wants more protection and more twisting of the lion's tail. Col. WALTON wants the Louisiana sugar interests protected from Democratic tariff reformers. On the other hand, Senator JOHN F. ANDREW of Massachusetts, son of that State's great war Governor, has come out for CLEVELAND, although he had been slated for a Congressional nomination, and to keep him company Hon. JOHN M. FORBES of Boston, who gave $10,000 to the Garfield campaign fund four years ago, has also come out for CLEVELAND. Still there are no symptoms of a general break-up of parties—a little swarming of kicking horses seems to be about the size of it.

A PARALLEL. The kinship between Republicanism and Imperialism is one which presents itself to our notice at every turn. Nowhere is it emphasized more forcibly than in BLAINE's letter of acceptance.

The Imperial idea runs through it all. A typical Republican, he seeks for national greatness not in patriotism, the virtue, the energy of the people, not in their adherence to the democratic idea, but in the Imperial standards of size, of wealth, of centralized power, of dominating influence and physical strength.

He speaks of the progress of the country during the continuance of Republican administration as a Bonapartist would speak of France under the rule of the late Imperial adventurer. Never was France richer to the eye. Never was France more active, capital more productive, enterprise better rewarded. Commerce increased, manufactures flourished. The expenses increased, it is true, for there was the army and the court, the new navy, the fortifications, the railroads, the boulevards; but all these were assets—so much value received. The very rottenness of the luxury which dazzled the eyes of the poor advertised the splendor of the pinhead empire.

This went on for about the period which has elapsed since the close of our civil war. At the end of that interval the iron monster of Prussia came down upon the tiny empire; it fell at a blow. France has ever since been painfully trying to put together the shattered fragments which fell in ruin at that touch.

Our good fortune has removed us far from any danger of a fate as fell as that of France. But Republicanism has done its best to reverse the democratic idea and to favor the Imperial idea; to put the Government first and the people last.

While the labor of the people has increased the wealth of the country taxation has crushed out individual enterprise. In business as in politics equality has disappeared; the corporation is the boss in business; in politics the boss runs a corporate monopoly. We have more millionaires, but they prosper at the expense of the many, and we have fewer of those small industries which maintain the personal independence of their followers. With more wealth we have gained in all things the gains have not been equally distributed.

This is the reverse of the picture Mr. BLAINE sketches. It is not as pleasant to look at; but it is more accurate, and if we needed a warning against that "chauvinism" which refuses to look at the truth it could be found in the downfall of that French Empire, which BLAINE's letter so irresistibly recalls.

LOGAN'S LETTER.

GEN. LOGAN's letter of acceptance bears marks of a careful elimination of some of the peculiarities of his rhetoric. It is, perhaps, the best specimen of Loganese extant, tried by the Murray standard. But the sweepings of the lower levels of political cant are presented in a style that can leave no question as to the authorship.

It seems to have been agreed that the Blaine and Logan letters should constitute a "straddle" on some of the points. LOGAN's letter, therefore, while it contains a word or two of affectionate regard for the National Bank notes, handles the currency topic in a way evidently designed to remind voters of the fact that he led the Western or Greenback wing of the Republican party in many a howl for inflation.

He comes out strong on several other points which BLAINE touched with guarded reserve, and between them there is a palpable attempt to "hedge" on the Southern question. LOGAN was a fire-eating advocate of bayonet interference in Southern elections and tries to make it plain that he leans that way yet, though BLAINE fought and defeated the Force Bill, and now treats Southern election outrages as exceptional outbreaks of a trouble that is dying out.

On this point General LOGAN adheres apparently to the old idea that the party in power at Washington has a right to go behind the returns after comparing them with the census, assume that it has been improperly deprived of votes it was entitled to, and use the strong arm of the Federal power to regulate voting at State elections. He forgets that since BLAINE defeated the Force Bill and Federal bayonets were withdrawn from police duty in the South, the troubles that were previously almost continuous in half a dozen States have years ago ceased in all but two.

General LOGAN, however, does not dare to advocate a return to the old abandoned method of securing Republican majorities in the South. His remedy now is a dedication of surplus revenue to the cause of Southern education.

This is another "hedge." Mr. BLAINE was nominated on his Philadelphia Press letter published last fall, in which he bid for Southern votes by proposing a continuance of Federal war taxes and the distribution of the proceeds among the States according to population. So it appears that BLAINE and LOGAN both favor a surplus revenue for distribution among the States, and there is not the slightest ground for supposing that there is a serious difference between them as to the modes and objects of the distribution. Give them the surplus and we have no doubt that they will enter upon the work of distribution in the most accommodating spirit.

A BAD DEMOCRAT.

A Washington Democratic paper speaks of the presence of William Dickson in the National Democratic Convention as a delegate and as a member of the National Committee, and declares that the Democrats of the District of Columbia were amused by his appearance as their representative. Some days ago it was said that Dickson might become Secretary of the National Committee. The friends of Gov. Cleveland should promptly exclude this man from their councils, and the Democrats of Washington should promptly secure a more respectable representative. Dickson was the associate of Boss Shepherd, and a prominent member of the notorious Feather-stone legislature. As a former of the first Star-route jury he was a useful and powerful friend of Theodore Tilton and Stephen W. Dorsey. He voted for the acquittal of these ring-leaders and for the conviction of the poor tools, Reddell and Miner. The votes of eight jurors who decided the conviction of all the defendants were overruled by the votes of Dickson and three other jurors, who had already and openly been paid.

After the trial Dickson was arrested, tried before Judge Seal upon the charge that he had corruptly endeavored to influence the jury. At the close of the trial the court held that he was guilty of the corrupt action specified in the indictment, and ordered that Dickson should be held to answer before a Grand Jury. This is the man who represented the Democrats of Washington in the convention, and who now represents them in the committee. We do not believe, however, that the committee has ever intended to give him the office of Secretary.

Southern Outrages.

Senator Hoar said in his able and effective speech in the Senate on July 18, that he was in earnest, in a manner that showed he was in earnest, that he would, if President, use the power vested in him for the suppression of outrages he could not get a vote of South and Dixon's line.

WOMEN OF THE WORLD.

Not one French woman is to be found among the voters of Utah.

A woman of Greenwood, Me., is reported to be cutting her fourth set of teeth.

A young lady in Peoria, Ill., started a report that ice cream will make the mustache grow.

The Boston Beacon cautious Boston girls to be prepared for sudden kisses, one of which recently started a Somerville girl to death.

Nissou's affection for America is rated at $2,000 a night. She does not love any other country so much.

A Boston lady advertises for a kind, careful man to look after the house and be company for her dog during her summer absence in Europe.

A Paris lady recently gave a ball to her female friends and asked each to bring a living animal. All except three brought their husbands.

The mother of Charlie Ross suffers constantly from melancholy. She never expects to find her boy, and it would be a relief to her to know that he was dead.

Nearly every young housekeeper is afraid her pet cat will be killed. That is the great difference between her and her neighbors. They are afraid it won't.

"My pet cat is worth $10,000, and still has to sing to live." It will be remembered that Nicolini has recently taken up billiards and smoking one dollar cigars.

Ladies who adapt their fancy work to the season are now embroidering on linen, duck and nankeen cloth while they drink in sea breezes on the hotel piazza.

A curiosity in the shape of a bearded girl only 7 years old has been discovered at Trenton, N. J. She is about two feet and a half high and weighs 10 pounds.

Linbie Van Wier, 15 years old, and the beauty of the village of Greenwood, N. Y., eloped with Nelson Mattice, a rag peddler 60 years old, Wednesday.

Mrs. Mackay, before leaving Paris, sent 2,500 francs to the office of the Figaro for the Little Sisters of the Poor of Touion, and the families of victims of the cholera in that city.

Seaside bathing suits are said to be out of the top and higher at the bottom this year than ever before, and Neptune discreetly remains submerged to spare his bathers.

The number of married American women now in Paris without their husbands excites the astonishment of the natives. The Parisians ought to know that that American husbands dislike shopping tours.

The eyes of the Empress of Austria are "full of fire and spirit." It is easy to understand what happens to Francis Joseph when he comes in just after his margin has been swept away.

Widow MAIR DUBOIS of Aubaine, in the Department of Isere, France, shows a baptismal card bearing the name of her husband, Auguste, dated March 16, 1781, and claims to have lost her husband sixty-six years ago, which makes her the most remarkable widow on record, excepting Butler.

What the Editors of the New York Journals Are Saying To-Day.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

New York, July 22.—The World says: "If Gov. Cleveland is elected President, the country will be saved from the clutches of the Democracy which would preserve a disfigured independent organization, it could not fail to hold a restraining influence on both the Democratic and the Republican parties."

The Press.

In its review of the Chicago Tribune the Democracy has had a good deal to say about the Tribune. The Tribune is a "disfigured independent organization, it could not fail to hold a restraining influence on both the Democratic and the Republican parties."

The Tribune says: "The Chicago Tribune is a 'disfigured independent organization, it could not fail to hold a restraining influence on both the Democratic and the Republican parties.'"

As I have seen the same statement, copied in other papers, and even in an official government report, it is worthy of correction. For the truth is that according to the official statement of Mayor Thomas to the Council in 1877, the mortality in 1877 was only 1,818. How the extra 2,000 got added is hard to say. Perhaps the 2 of the original figures was misread for 18, or as it might easily be done.

But, however, it happened, it does the city great injustice, for whilst the one figure represents a death rate of 17.8 per 1,000, the other represents a mortality of 47.7 per 1,000, which is about twice as bad.
